TSTA: Rep. Krause’s letter smacks of a witch hunt

Texas State Teachers Association President Ovidia Molina issued the following response to Rep. Matt Krause’s letter to school superintendents:

   Rep. Krause’s letter demanding that school superintendents provide him with lists of books dealing with certain subjects on their school bookshelves is disturbing and political overreach into the classroom. Nothing in state law, not even in HB3979 or SB3, gives a legislator the authority to conduct this type of witch hunt.

   This is an obvious attack on diversity and an attempt to score political points at the expense of our children’s education. What will Rep. Krause propose next? Burning books he and a handful of parents find objectionable?
